Beaded Necklaces Are Here in Bewildering Confusion

Never has fashion shown such instant and unmistakable vogue as it has this season for the Beaded Necklaces. They are here in a most wonderful assortment of vivid hues, striking colorings, soft, delicate shadings, in shapes of every size and dimension. The beaded necklace is a most important part of present day dress. Sometimes two or three are worn at a time, many of them all of one shade, others in which combinations are attractively displayed.

Our showing is especially large, amber and lapis, amber and jet, amber and sapphire, amber and jade, amber and amethyst, amber and coral, and amber and turquoise—priced from $1.00 to $4.00 each.

A large assortment of the bead necklaces are also shown in plain colors of coral at 75c each—amber, coral, jet, pearl, rose, violet, pink, and light blue.

50c, $1.00, $1.50, and $2.50 each.

Society Doings in and Around The National Capital

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN.

The President, Miss Margaret Wilson, and Miss Helen Woodrow Jones attended the morning service at the Central Presbyterian Church yesterday.

Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, who returned from New York Saturday night accompanied by her fiancé, Secretary William Gibbs McAdoo, spent the morning at the White House resting from fatigue incident to her shopping tour in New York. She and Secretary McAdoo took a motor ride yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of President Harrison, and Miss Elizabeth Harrison left Washington yesterday afternoon, after spending the past week with Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Joseph Kuhn at their quarters at Washington Barracks.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Harrison and her daughter attended services at the Church of the Covenant and occupied the pew in which the late President Harrison worshipped.

Mrs. O. D. Oliphant, of Trenton, N. J., will deliver a lecture at anti-suffrage headquarters, 1402 H street this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the District Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, and Mrs. Gardner will preside.

The patronesses are Mrs. Mahlon Pittney, Mrs. Willard Saulsbury, Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Mrs. Elkins, Mrs. Dunham C. Phillips, Mrs. Eliza Dyer, Mrs. George Howard, Miss Gwynne, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, Mrs. Robert Lincoln, Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Richard Townsend, Mrs. Charles Fitzhugh, Mrs. Hauge, Mrs. Corbin, and Miss Jane Great. William Cogswell is chairman of the lecture committee.

Mrs. E. Thurston Ballard has gone to New York, and is staying at the Hotel Wolcott, where Mr. Ballard will join her later.

The announcement in New York of the engagement of Miss Gertrude Greene, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Francis Verne Greene, to Mr. Russell W. Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bryant, of Buffalo, N. Y., is one of great interest to the Washington resident circle because her parents are widely known and most popular here.

Mrs. Greene was Miss Belle Eugenie Chevalle, a niece of Mrs. William Fish, was a beauty and belle of the last Grant administration. Gen. Greene, then Lieut. Greene, a young officer of distinction, was in charge of the public works at the Capital. He was a great favorite socially, and already three times decorated by the Czar of Russia for services rendered in the campaign in Turkey in 1877, became engaged to Miss Chevalle, and their wedding took place in Washington in February of 1878.

Gen. and Mrs. Greene now reside in New York, where Gen. Greene was police commissioner. While living in Buffalo a number of years ago Mrs. Greene was almost fatally burned by an explosion of natural gas, just before a dinner party which she was giving at her own residence.

No date has been yet set for the marriage of Miss Greene and Mr. Bryant. Mr. Bryant is a Harvard graduate, and is a member of several prominent clubs in Buffalo.

Miss Richards on Home Rule

In her talk on "Public Questions" this morning in the auditorium of Woodward & Lothrop's, Miss Janet Richards will present the latest phases of the home rule and army crisis in England, and, in addition, will touch on the Democratic conflict over the canal tolls repeal and the Mexican question.

Dr. Marcus Benjamin will address the Club of Colonial Dames this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. His subject will be "Henri Hudson."

Miss Elizabeth C. Day, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David T. Day, whose engagement to Mr. Stanley Breckinridge, of Reading, Penn., was announced in January, has set April 30 for the date of the wedding. On May 2 the young couple expects to sail for Italy with a party under the leadership of Mr. J. M. Parsons, head of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts, in which school both of the young people were students. The trip will last three months and will cover the principal cities of Italy, France and England with lectures on art and architecture on the spot.

Count Szechenyi and his brother, Count I. Szechenyi, arrived at the Shoreham yesterday to spend several days. Countess Szechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, who is in mourning for her uncle, the late Mr. George Vanderbilt, is in New York.

Of interest to society here and in Baltimore will be the wedding there on April 20 of Miss Anita Hack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Hack, to Charles Bancroft Carroll, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll, of Doughoregan Manor, Carrollton, Md. Many relatives and friends from this city will go to Baltimore for the ceremony and reception.

Dr. J. A. MacDonald, owner of the Toronto Globe, has returned to the Shoreham.

Miss Ethel Rose has arrived from Vassar to spend the spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wickliffe Rose, at their home in Connecticut avenue.

Mr. Walter S. Andrews, of Newport, has arrived at the Shoreham to spend several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stephenson and son, who have been the guests of Senator Stephenson at the Hotel Powhatan, left on Saturday for their home.

Mrs. J. A. Tyler and Mrs. L. G. Tyler, of New York, are at the Hotel Powhatan.

Pi Beta Phi sorority of George Washington University will hold a tea dance at the Burlington Saturday for the benefit of the institution. Invitations

Lincoln Relic to Leave Washington

Suit Worn by Emancipator on Night of Assassination Will Be Sold.

If negotiations now pending are successful the suit of clothes worn by President Lincoln the night he was assassinated at Ford's Theater, this city, will pass from the hands of John M. Kirby, manager of The Playhouse, this city, to a well-known collector of Lincoln relics in New York City.

Mr. Kirby only recently acquired the clothes from the estate of Frank Dunn, Mrs. Lincoln presented the clothes to Mr. Dunn for faithful attention to the President during the dangerous years of the war.

The clothes are in excellent condition. The inside of the coat is handsomely embroidered. A large eagle holding a streamer in its bill with the words, "One Country, One Destiny," inscribed on it, seems almost like a prophecy. Four American shields fill the corners.

Mrs. Virginia Ream Roxie, sculptress, used the suit in making model of the Lincoln statue now in the rotunda of the Capitol.

Mr. Kirby has had a number of offers for loan of the clothes to be used for exhibition purposes, but will not consider such propositions. P. T. Barnum, the show man, offered $10,000 for the clothes in 1873.
